its liberty... is the source of all injustice and violence.

Hume, aocrat, and also a great liberal, believed that the liberty of the people is the source of all injustice and violence.

The truth is, however, that we have never seen any connection between liberty and injustice. On the contrary, the most just and peaceful societies have been those that have given the most freedom to their citizens.

Hume also believed that the pursuit of wealth is the source of all injustice. He said that the love of money is the root of all evil.

But the truth is, that wealth is not evil in itself. It is only when it is pursued at the expense of others that it becomes evil.

Hume's ideas have had a great influence on modern philosophy and politics. His belief in tolerance and freedom of thought is still with us today.
